Conference Abstract

Autism vs language delay (which is first) the dilemma in daily practice

Turki Homod Albatti*

King Saud University, College of Medicine, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia

Abstract

The overlap between ASD (Autism) and language delay is very complicated especially in younger kids Here in this presentation I will give clinical tips help health care team how to make clear differentiation between this two topics using up dated subjective and objective tools like (SCQ, M-CHAT, ADOS-2) So, the participant will use this clinical value instrument in their daily practice to screen for Autism and separate this cases from speech delay with their clinical judgment.